Investment rationale:

The EURO STOXX 50 Index, Europe's leading Blue-chip index for the Eurozone, provides a Blue-chip representation of supersector leaders in the Eurozone. The FTSE 100 Index is a capitalization-weighted index of the 100 most highly capitalized companies traded on the London Stock Exchange. iUnderlyings MSCI Brazil ETF provides investment results that correspond to the performance of the MSCI Brazil 25/50 Index.

How this product works:

This investment product is linked to the performance of the Eurostoxx 50, FTSE 100 Index and iUnderlyings MSCI Brazil ETF.

At the start of the product, on the trade date, the Investor purchases Denominations of the Note. On Strike date, the closing levels of the underlyings are recorded and these levels are taken as the Strike Levels. On each Early Observation Date, the closing levels of the Underlyings are observed, and if all of the underlyings close at or above 100% of their Strike Levels the product is Autocalled, and the Investor receives 100% of his investment returned plus a coupon of 4.25% multiplied by the number of the semi annual Observation Dates (there are 10 Observation Dates in total) and the product terminates). Example:

- If on the 3rd Observation date, the closing level of all underlyings are at or above 100% of their Strikes, then the Note autocalls and the Investor will receive all his investment amount back plus a 4.25% Coupon multiplied by 3 (the number of the Observation Date) and the product terminates.
- If the Investment does not autocall before the final Observation Date and if not all the underlyings are at or above 100% and not one is below 60% of its Strike level at that time, the Investor will receive all its Investment amount back, with no Coupon payment. In the event that at least one underlying is below 60% of its Strike, the amount invested by the Investor will receive back will be reduced.
- If on the Final Observation date, the worst performing underlying closes at 45% of its Strike Level, then the Investor will receive 45% of its initial investment amount returned.

Underlyings:

The EURO STOXX 50 Index covers 50 stocks from 12 Eurozone countries.

The FTSE 100 Index is a capitalization-weighted index of the 100 most highly capitalized companies traded on the London Stock Exchange. The equities use an investibility weighting in the index calculation. The index was developed with a base level of 1000 as of December 30, 1983.

iUnderlyings MSCI Brazil ETF is an exchange-traded fund in the USA. The ETF's objective is to provide investment results that correspond to the performance of the MSCI Brazil 25/50 Index.
